1. Is there any differential any longer between public and private institutions or have the new regulations as written eliminated some of that?
2. Is August 14 going to be the true required implementation date or will there be more litigation that might slow things down or temporarily stall things? What about Congress or the upcoming election?
3. What if I have to rework collective bargaining agreements or have a lengthy policy approval process? What are some strategies I can use to get something on the books by the deadline?
4. Do I need to worry about going back and putting all prior training records, etc., online? Is any of this retroactive?
5. What are some tips or alternatives for small schools with small budgets as it relates to structuring the process and staffing requirements in line with the regulations?
